Global Hunter Securities Announces 2011 GHS Conference

Showcase of Energy, Metals & Mining and China companies for institutional investors at San Francisco's InterContinental Hotel July 17-19, 2011

NEW ORLEANS – February 3, 2011 – Global Hunter Securities (GHS) today announced that its 2011 conference will bring together companies and investors from three different sectors – Energy, Metals & Mining and China – at the InterContinental Hotel in San Francisco from July 17-19. The 2011 GHS Conference builds on the success of last year's GHS China Conference. This year, GHS expects at least twice as many companies and investors as last year's China Conference, which had more than 85 and 200, respectively.

“San Francisco was a superb conference site last year, and the best way to improve on that success is to extend that opportunity to a deeper spectrum of companies and investors,” said Daniel O. Conwill IV, Chairman and CEO of Global Hunter Securities. “Combining three of our focus verticals into one conference is much more efficient for us as a firm and will create a unique and diverse atmosphere for our institutional clients and presenting companies.”

The three-day conference will feature seven concurrent tracks of company presentations and ample space for one-on-ones. The schedule includes an opening night cocktail reception, a dinner celebration for all attendees, plus some special entertainment brought in from GHS's headquarters city, New Orleans. The company expects close to 200 presenting companies and in excess of 400 institutional investors.

GHS President Edward R. Lainfiesta said the firm specifically chose the new San Francisco InterContinental Hotel because it is uniquely suited to the structure of The GHS Conference. “There are three completely separate floors on which each sub-conference will be held, so presentations will be conveniently located for those investors focused in any given sector,” said Lainfiesta. “But, after hours, we will bring together our diverse audience under one roof, which will be a great networking opportunity for all.”

Management teams and investors who are interested in attending The 2011 GHS Conference should contact their GHS representative or send an email to TheConference@ghsecurities.com.
